

Flat Iron Restaurant Announces Mark Marino as Executive Chef

December 2007 - Boston, MA

The Flat Iron Restaurant located in the Boston Bulfinch Hotel announces that Mark Marino is the new Executive Chef. Chef Marino comes to the Flat Iron after spending several years in the area as Chef de Cuisine and the Sous Chef at notable restaurants such as Lineage in Brookline and Great Bay in Kenmore Square. Prior to his culinary stints in the Boston area, Chef Marino received a culinary arts degree from Newbury College in Brookline.

“It is exciting to be part of such a vibrant scene at the Flat Iron and the Bulfinch Hotel in downtown Boston”, said Chef Mark Marino. “Guests at the Flat Iron will be able to pick up on my experience in the local area, particularly with seafood that we plan to infuse in our new upcoming 2008 menu.”

Flat Iron is the perfect place for friends to meet and enjoy a cocktail, wine or beer from local breweries. Whether you're looking for a chic place before an event at the TD Banknorth Boston Garden, a special night out downtown or a city-soaked power lunch, the Flat Iron Tapas Bar & Lounge is open six days a week Monday through Saturday.
